

Updated ACR Statement on Breast Tomosynthesis.

ACR Position Statement – The updated American College of Radiology (ACR) breast tomosynthesis statement makes clear that this technology is no longer investigational and has been shown to improve key screening parameters compared to digital mammography. The ACR encourages members to refer to this statement when interacting with hospital administrators and payers regarding this important subject.